Somebody's Darling.

Into a ward of the white-washed halls, Where the dead and the dying lay, Wounded by bayonets, shells and balls, Somebody's Darling was borne one day-Somebody's Darling, so young and so brave, Wearing yet on his pale, sweet face, Soon to be hid by the dust of the grave, The lingering light of his boyhood's grace, Matted and damp are the curls of gold Kissing the snow of that fair young brow; Pale are the lips of delicate mould-Somebody's Darling is dying now. Back from his beautiful blue-veined brow Brush all the wandering waves of gold; Cross his hands on his bosom now, Somebody's Darling is still and cold.

Kiss him once for somebody's sake, Murmura prayer soft and low; One bright curl from its fair mates take, They were somebody's pride, you know: Somebody's hand hath rested there,---Was it a mother's, soft and white? And have the lips of a sister fair Been baptized in the waves of light?

God knows best! He has somebody's love; Somebody's heart enshrined him there; Eomebody wafted his name above, Night and morn on the wings of prayer. Somebody wept when he marched away, Looking so handsome, brave and grand; Somebody's kiss on his forehead lay, Somebody clung to his parting hand.

Somebody's waiting and watching for him, Yearning to hold him again to their heart. And there he lies with his blue eyes dim, And the smiling, child-like lips apart. Tenderly bury the fair young dead, Pausing to drop on his grave a tear; Carve on the wooden slab at his head, "Somebody's darling slumbers here."

The Oak of the Forest.

Thou oak of the forest! whose dark branches sway O'er the wild lonely paths of my weed-tangled way;

Proud cak of the forest! O hear me complain, That the journey of life is a journey of pain.

Where the pilgrim of sadness his hard burthen bears. Where the fond child of sentiment hopes and despairs; Where pleasures, succeeded full soon by disgust, Remind us that man is but heir of the dust!

Ah! would that like thee I might safely defy

All the tempests that sweep o'er the world's fickle Ah! would that like thee I could calmly behold

The murderous whirlwind its terrors unfold. For thou, with thy brethren, wilt flourishing grow, When this bosom is cold, and this head is laid low:

In the fresh gale of spring shall thy green honors wave. When I shall be dust in the mouldering grave,

Each summer that comes will thy foliage restore. When I shall be withered to flourish no more; But hold! there is hope, there is comfort for me, Mid the darkness of sorrow, rich dawnings I see.

O world! where the weary shall endlessly rest, No longer by power or fortune opprest; O realms! where my spirit shall joyously soar, When the cak of the forest shall flourish no more!

"The manifesto of the rebel Congress which we publish to day, is a document much less arrogant and defiant than any thing which has yet come from that quarter, and though some may think it is dictated by mere policy, yet it must be remembered that if it is even so, they have never stooped to policy before. It is manifestly an overture for peace, on any terms except those of unconditional surrender and submission, which last can hardly be expected of any people or armies that have evinced so much valor and made so many sacrifices in war."

ple of the North awake in time from their General Hardee having passed around the foolish dream of conquest, spoilation, and army of the West, whose headquarters were first. I believe, at Memphis, then at Paducah, have now been just removed to Louisville. By plunder, insult and outrage, Paducah, the most flourishing town in Western Kentucky, has been rendered uninhabitable be people, and indeed a large portion of the place has been wantenly destroyed. Now we suppose the same deluge is to be poured upon Louisville, Lexington, and all the remainder of the State. You hear much these men are persons, heretofore loyal, who, robbed and plundered of all their means of families insulted by these black barbarians, under the command of more infamous white men, take to this course under mingled feelings of revenge and despair.

Have the Northern people yet surmised the purpose of the Negro army? Have they ntterly forgotten that the interests and the liberties of the whole people of this country was not intended to fight the Confederates. That class of troops has been kept heretofore just near enough to actual war to accustom them to bloodshed and cruelty. while, as far as practicable, they are covered by the white troops from actual danger. It is apparent now that mingled patriotism and lust of power have thoroughly demonized the abolition party. Their plan obviously is, to precipitate upon the South, by successive conscriptions, all the fighting material of the white population who are not abolitionists, and sacrifice them there; while the negro army, as a Janizary corps, is to be employed in the Northern and Middle States to coerce passive obedience.

I believe that these infamous men entertain very little thought of subjugating the South; but they are insanely joyous at the prospect of subjugating all that portion of the Union which is not now in rebellion .-By continuing the contest, upon the policy lately adopted, they expect so to impair the strength of the loyal states, outside of the Aboli ion party, which takes precious care of itself, that the people will be meekly guns instead of 22, as previously reported. submissive to a rule enforced by their array of black savages.

COUNTRY PRODUCE AND A GENERAL ASSORTMENT OF FAMILY AND BU-SINESS CONSUMPTIONS FOR CITY AND COUNTRY!!

T MY OLD AND COMMISSION Stand, embracing two large and elegant three story stores on Wall Street, I carry on, with increased stock and facilities, my long established business of furnishing Families in City and County, Farmers, Merchant and all others, most of the essential commodities con sumed in life, all which I am selling at the most favorable rates for cash or such country produce as suits the market. Thankful for the iberal patronage so long extended to me in the past, and which has enabled me to offer greater inducements to customers bereafter. I respect-fully solicit a continuance of their favors. Bewill be found advertisements of a few of my pecialities; but it would take up a whole newspaper to enummerate all the commodities of general necessity which I habitually keep on hand. No one can examine my stock and go away unsuited as to quality and price.

The above, with many other good books, received and for sale by G. W. BLATTERMAN,

And to this claustral twilight bring The sun's profanest glare.

O summer day, Delay! delay! Let naled hill and bare brown field Parch in thy torrid ray, So this dim nook be unrevealed, Where I, Deliciously concealed, Among the lilies lie. The delicate day lies!

The white and wonderful lilies! My dark haunt so still is The wildest birdling dare not sing, Nor insect beat a gossamer wing, Nor zephyr lift the lightest thing, --Here, where the lustrous lilies, The clear, resplendent lilies

Pour out their heavenly-sweet perfume, And with their snowiness. In clusters chaste illume This dark recess.

Soft footed silence, royal nun! In this thy humid, emerald cell Fcrever dwell! These flowers supernal ever shine, Pure flamed, before thy virgin shrine!

Here one by one, Tell o'er thy glistening, rural beads,-A rosary strung on tangled weeds, And blades and stems that intertwist, The breath of lilies be thy prayers, Sweet-odored, wafted unawares Up through the morning lucent airs, And evening's pallid mist!

And glittering stars shall o'er thee pass. Deep-pillowed in the heavy grass; These broad smooth lily leaves shall be A glossy coverlet for thee; The prayers and penance done, O royal nun! By day or night,

In dark or light, Thy fragrant shrine shall be the same; These slender tapers, lambent still, Nor blazing sun, nor mildew chill, Shall quench their alabaster flame.

A gleam, as of a crystal wand! And day peers in with curious face; The jealous sunshine stealing round Doth wearily chase The cool dank shadows on the ground.

The cloister walls no longer stand; A garish glory fills the space, And lights the lush grass, loose and long, While startled by the wild bird's song, Soft-footed silence flees apace; But still serene the lilies shine

Pure-flamed before her ruined shrine Mr. Camp, becoming enthusiastic, and, holding out his brawny hand, cried out, exultingly:

'What does that look like?' 'That,' interposed Mr. Ames, with a peculiar sniff of the nose-that looks as though you were out of soap."

FLUX. STRICKLAND'S Anti-Cholera Mixture,

Is a composition of astringents, absorbents, stimulants and carminatives, which every physcient acknowledges is the only preparation that will effect a permanent cure of Diarrhea and Dysentery. This Anti-Cholera Mixture is now in use in several of our aimy hospitals where it gives the greatest satisfaction. It has saved the lives of thousands of our soldiers and citizens, and we will guarantee it to be the best remedy in the world for Diarrhea and Dysentery. Mr. Woods, of Covington, Ky., will be most happy to satisfy any one as to the virtue of Strickland's Anti-Chole a Mixture; in fact we have a great number of testimonials from patients who have been cured after being pronounced incurable by their physicians, some after taking only one bottle of Strickland's Anti-Cholera Mixture. If you suffer with Diarrhea and Dysentery try one bottle.

DR. JOHN BULL'S COMPOUND CEDRON BITTERS:

The Latest and Most Important Discovery of the Nineteenth Century.

NO MAN'S NAME IS MORE INTIMATELY connected with the history of the Materia Medica of the United States, or more favorably known as a pioneer in medical discovery, than that of JOHN BULL, of Louisville, Ky. His inimitable preparation of Sarsaparilla has long stood at the head of the various compounds of that valuable drug. His compound Pectoral of Wild Cherry has become a household word throughout the West and South; and his Worm Lozenges, in less than a year after their introduction, attained a reputation as widespread as the continent of North America. But the crowning glory of his life remains to be attained in his latest discovery, or rather combination, for he does not claim to have been the discoverer of CEDRON, which is the basis of the Bitters now offered to the public. That honor belongs to the native inhabitants of Central America, to whom its virtues have been known for more than two hundred years. Armed with it, the Indian bids defiance to the most deadly malaria, and handles without fear the most venomous serpents. It is a belief with them that while there is breath left in the body the Cedron is potent to cure, no mattet what the disease may be.

While Dr. Bull is not prepared to indorse this extravagant pretension, he is nevertheless satiseither to changes of weather and climate or to the miasmatic influences, it stands without a rival. and justly deserves the reputation it has so long enjoyed in Central America and the West and its attendant train of symptoms, it acts more like a charm than a medicine. There is nothing in the whole range of the Materia Medica that can for a moment bear a comparison with it in this disease.

found in the eleventh edition of the U.S. Dispensatory, pages 1887 and 1888.

A series of experiments, in which Dr. Bull has been for years engaged, has just been brought to a successful termination, and he is now enabled to offer to the public a combination of Cedron with other improved tonics, the whole preserved in the best quality of copper-distilled Bourbon whisky, which he is confident has no equal in the world. He might furnish a volume of certificates, but the public have long since learned to estimate such things at their true value. The safest plan is for every one to test for limself the virtues of a new medicine. Give the one trial, and you will never use any others.

It is not necessary to publish a long list of diseases for which the Cedron Bitters are a specific, In all diseases of the STOMACH, BOWELS KIDNEYS, or LIVER;

In all affections of the BRAIN depending upon derangement of the Stomach or Bowels; In GOUT, RHEUMATISM & NEURALGIA; And in FEVER AND AGUE; It is destined to supersede all other remedies. It [not only cures all these diseases but it pre-
